Reformists and Conservatives, Both, Denounce German Imperial Chancellor-Called Monarch's Grave Digger.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The attempt of the imperial German chancellor, Count von Hertling, to ride two horses simultaneously in his house of lords speech recently appears to have resulted in his falling between them. That portion of the press favoring real Prussian franchise reform is disappointed and disgruntled by the chancellor's ambiguous warning that the lords could avoid too far reaching concessions by accepting reform measures now and the conservative is up in arms because of his appeal for acceptance of reforms "for protection and mainten ance of the crown and dynasty."

The agrarian Tages Zeitung calls Hertling the "Prussian monarch's grave digger."
The Kruze Zeitung attacks von Hertling for minimizing the crown's deserts and exaggerating the Social services and darkly warns him that monarchies do not crumble be-cause they resist the unjustified demands of the masses but because they let themselves be forced down to the dangerous compromises."

The pan-German Deutchez Zeitung

So far as has been noted, only Ger mania, von Hertling's organ, is satisfied with his speech.

AMSTERDAM, Sept 8.—The Ger man emperor recently entertained at luncheon General Skoropadski, hetman of Ukraine, and both generously expressed their admiration for each other.

The emperor, according to a Ber in dispatch, said he had offered the helping hand to afflicted Ukraine, which had suffered by the war brought upon the world by the machinations of the entente and continued by them with criminal madness in spite of the recognized unattainable nature of their aims of domination." Germany had furnished Ukraine with a basis for existence as a state and, he declared: "Henceforth, a citizen can follow his vocation undisturb ed and a peasant can cultivate the soil in safety and enjoy the fruits of his labor. There still remains much to do but under the direction of your highness, Ukraine already has made con siderable progress in internal consoli-dation and has thereby assured to itself a basis for future development.
